Blue Stamp Foods

Those Available During the Present Month Are Announced

Blue stamp foods available during November to participants in the Food Stamp Plan are announced by Charles M. Quinn, local representative of the Agricultural Marketing Administration, November foods, the same as those listed for October, include fresh fruits and vegetables, whole wheat and enriched flour and other protective foods.

According to Mr. Quinn, participation in the Food Stamp Plan by persons who receive public aid increases the food purchasing power of some 3,000,000 consumers who are thus enabled to improve their limited diets and help raise the national health level.

In addition to enabling needy persons to obtain a more healthful diet, the stabilizing effects of the Food Stamp Plan on farmer's markets helps American farmers maintain their increased production of wartime food.

The complete Blue Stamp list issued by the Agricultural Marketing Administration for the month of November in all Food Stamp Program areas is as follows: Fresh apples, all fresh vegetables including Irish and sweet potatoes, shell eggs, corn meal, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (graham) flour.

Red Cross Budget

The 15 Knox County Chapters Must Raise $5500 Next Year

Kerny ap Rice, Knox County Red Cross chairman, has notified the several branches that the budget for the year beginning March 1, 1943, has been approved at $5500. He says:

"The expenditures upon Red Cross program work within Knox County for the year just past, amounted to $3700. The increased budget which was adopted corresponds to an expected increase in membership, of about 50 percent over last year.

"The above figures include all Red Cross work in the county, namely, the Chapter office and the 15 branches. It was found that the expenses of the Chapter office were considerably less than the $2000. Chapter Office budget which was authorized Jan. 21, 1942.

"The annual roll call, membership campaign, and War Fund appeal will begin March 1. Instead of the customary Nov. 11, Armistice Day. Our budgets for the current year must therefore be stretched to cover three and one-half extra months. The executive committee found that even under those hard conditions, there will probably be a favorable balance of $2000 in the treasuries of the 15 branches and the Chapter on Feb. 28, 1943.

"Reports have been received from 12 Knox County Red Cross treasurers, which show that on Sept. 30, there was an average of $326 cash on hand in each Branch and the Chapter. The favorable condition of Knox County Red Cross finances as a whole, was commented on with approval by the executive committee."

The Rotary Club

Rockland Pastor Tells Members Why We Shall Win the War

Rev. Charles Marsteller was the speaker at Rotary last Friday, taking as his subject: "Why I Believe We Shall Win the War." It was one of those direct, telling talks that carry conviction.

He based his faith not primarily on the size of our Army, our wealth, our great factories with their second breaking production of tanks, ships, planes and munitions, but on the values, the ideals, and principles to which we are committed as a people. Not that we are without faults but that we do stand for certain values which have their origin in God. We are striving for, fighting for higher values than the Axis powers are holding before the world.

America represents the Good Samaritan spirit, the spirit of helpful service. America represents the value of human life, the tolerant spirit, the ideal of integrity and righteousness. If we preserve these values, uphold and exemplify them in our national life, we are on the side of God's laws and we cannot lose. Eternal right will prevail. If we are on the side of eternal right we shall prevail.

Three new members were inducted into the Club at Friday's meeting: Charles T. Smalley, Jerome C. Burrows, David J. Connelly. The new members were introduced by their sponsors and were welcomed into membership by President Maurice Lovejoy with a few well chosen words.

Walter Conley was reported at the Lahey Clinic in Boston and Dr. Charles North at the Palmer Memorial Hospital, Boston.

Visiting Rotarians: Asbury Pittman, Glen Lawrence, Belfast and Gilbert Harmon, Camden. Guests: Fred C. Black, Pvt. Albert Emery of Rockland.

[EDITORIAL]

Tense battles are being fought in most of the 47 States which are today holding their biennial elections, but local interest here on the bleachers—for Maine has already held its election—is going to center very largely on Massachusetts and New York. The Democrats are making a very real attempt to defeat the re-election of Gov. Saltonstall and U. S. Senator Lodge. Here in Knox County we have a very friendly interest in the former, for he spends a considerable portion of the Summer season at his North Haven estate, where his democratic ways have made him very popular. Senator Lodge long ago made a name for himself in the upper branch of Congress, running true to the traditions of his name.

Because of the belief that the Republican party has a good chance to transfer New York State back to the Republican column all eyes are fixed on today's contest there. Those who have faith in the Gallup poll are fortified by its continued showing that Dewey is leading the triangular contest for Governor. Fearful of losing the State, which they have come to regard as their special property, the Democratic bigwigs have been swinging to the support of Bennett—even President Roosevelt who eats humble pie when he aligns himself with the candidate he wanted beaten—and with Jim Farley who pulled a fast one on him through the nomination of Bennett over Senator Mead. There are wheels within wheels in this New York election because Wendell L. Willkie very naturally desires to retain his position as the titular head of the Republican party, and who cannot help foreseeing that a good-sized majority for Dewey would again make him a formidable opponent in the Republican National Convention of 1944.

Aside from Massachusetts and New York interest will center very generally on the State of California, where the Republicans once more are thought to have a good look-in. Control of Congress in both branches will remain heavily Democratic, although it will be very disappointing to the G.O.P. if they do not make considerable off-year gains.

What to do about Gen. Douglas MacArthur? That's the question which is absorbing the nation's attention. The popular war hero has made it very plain that he has neither political ambition nor the desire to be President of the United States. Drew Pearson, the Washington writer who predicts things of national and international moment, foresees that he will probably be made commander of this country's forces in the Southern Pacific, and the public generally will agree that he should be assigned to the position of greatest importance. A position calling for stamina and aggressive work.

OUR BOYS BEHAVED WELL

Our hat is off to the youth of Rockland who obeyed almost to the letter the suggestion made editorially in Friday's issue that they refrain from Halloween disturbances this year while the country is at war and conservation should be practiced. We have been unable to learn that any real damage was done in this city, and mischief was at a harmless minimum. By way of contrast we picked up yesterday's Bangor Daily News and read this headline: "Halloween Celebrators Raise Havoc in Bangor—Smash Windows, Sound False Alarms, Shoot Street Lights."

THREE MILLION POUNDS

The Knox County report of over 3,000,000 pounds of scrap collected was the highlight of Monday night's report from Regional Chairman John M. Norris. Chairman Norris expressed great satisfaction in the Knox County summaries as reported to him by H. P. Blodgett, assisting the Knox County chairman, Cleveland T. Sleeper, Jr. The Knox leader was Matinicus, with 750 percent of quota.—Bangor Daily News.

All of this has been accomplished without fuss and feathers. The residents of Knox County saw in the campaign their patriotic duty, and have not waited to be spurred on by the newspapers or committees. Well done, Knox!

CALLING FOR YOU, GIRLS!

Patriotic Demands For More Nurses—Only One Rockland Graduate In Recent List

Girls, the world is calling for you to take up the fine and highly important study of nursing. Our country is now asking for 3500 more nurses per month than are ready at this date, to do the war work needed. Hospital training is required and one of the finest schools of nursing is right here in Rockland at the Knox County Hospital from which we have sent out many excellent nurses every year for several years.

There are in this State four nurses' training schools, Bangor, Lewiston, Portland and Rockland. We have just graduated a class at Knox Hospital, and these young ladies were every one cited as of the finest examples of this class of needed service.

It was noted that there was but one Rockland nurse in the list, and that is really a sorry example of lack of knowledge or careless thought of what the country needs.

We of course have had a number of Rockland girls trained in this school and they measure lofty in this particular training.

Knox Hospital stands for the best in every branch of its service. Letters come to our president, William T. White, and our superintendent, Miss Ellen Daly, giving the highest praise to work and care and general efficiency in this superior institution. These letters were unsolicited. Hospital training calls for a 48-hour week of classroom work and working practice, allows adequate and proper vacation time, and supplies excellent social and recreational hours.

Public health work for Federal service has been given freely at Knox Hospital. Graduates of High Schools are most desirable students, and graduates from College or other schools make for easy training. Sound health is required. The age limit is from 18 to 35.

The need of nurses is vital and the available aid from federal sources is possible when desired. This is an age when every young woman needs vocational guidance and the remuneration should be more than attractive to the ambitious girls of today.

There is also that side which should be taken into consideration—patriotism and loyalty to our men and women in service who need trained help when affliction comes. This war may make us realize our duty to humanity as never before.—Kathleen S. Fuller.

SUPERIOR COURT IN SESSION

With Justice Murray On the Bench—Many Divorce Cases Are Pending

The November term of Superior Court for Knox County convened at 10 o'clock this forenoon, the presiding justice being Hon. Edward P. Murray of Bangor, who also presided at the last November term. Assigned to duty as court reporter is Fred L. Wilson of Portland, who has been coming here at intervals for many years. The other court officials are:

Clerk—Milton M. Griffin.
Sheriff—C. Earle Ludwick.
County Attorney—Stuart C. Burgess.

Granville N. Bacheider of St. George is court crier, Allie O. Pillsbury of Camden will have charge of the traverse jury; and Fred Robinson of Cushing will be deputy at large.

Ralph L. Wiggin is again officiating as messenger.

Acting as chaplain this term was the pastor of St. Bernard's Church, Rev. James A. Savage.

The new grand jury which will serve three terms was immediately impaneled and "went below" to start in its labors, which this term, are not expected to outlast the first day.

The trial jury reports for duty Thursday morning.

Figuring in the criminal docket this term are the following appealed cases:

William C. DeVine, intoxication, second offense.
James Quillan, intoxication.
Gilford Payson, assault and battery.
Leslie I. Thompson, intoxication, second offense.
Clyde Gray, lascivious cohabitation.
Fred Peters, intoxication, second offense.
Frank Leighton, intoxication, second offense.
Chester L. Allen, intoxication, second offense.
Alfred Donovan, hit and run driving.
Robert F. Kearly, attempted larceny.
Lewys Yattew, speeding.
Fred P. Haskell, assault and battery.

Leslie Thompson, common drunk.
Wildie Moore, malicious mischief.
Wildie Moore, assault and battery.
Fred P. Knight, single sale, second offense.
Fred P. Knight, single sale, second offense.

Burpee Furniture Company, black-out violation.
Lody A. Cross, dim-out violation.
Jacob A. Bedell, Grace Bickford, David Charest, Emma Peters, Una Hight, Etta Quinn, Carl Wagner, Joseph E. I. Girard, Ella Allright, Gladys Brown, Cyrus A. Cunningham, Mrs. A. J. McArthur, Mrs. A. M. McElroy and Grace G. Arnold, displaying placard without permit.

The cases with reference to "displaying placard without permit," are the result of the recent visit to Rockland of Jehovah's Witnesses, who were arrested by the Police Department for parading Main street with placards referring to the sect and the convention it was to hold near Withams Lobster Pound.

Marcella McDonald, Alexander McElroy, Roland Kimball, Harold Bennett and Theodore Wallace, displaying placard without permit.
Wilho Korpinen, drunken driving.
Robert Olson, assault and battery.
Robert F. Kearly, larceny.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

This war is a terrible thing said the Rockport man who retired shortly after midnight, only to be awakened by the blackout alarm at 4:30 a. m. The portable alarm made its way over the town's streets, awakening everybody within 10 miles. As the test was not completed until after 6 o'clock my informant charged up his Sunday morning rest to profit and loss.

It happened many years ago, not far from Main street Rockland, in a boarding house some of whose tenants frequently get together and chuckle over the incident. One of the boarders was not possessed of an over-abundance of gray matter above the eyebrows, and he suspected nothing when one of the others declared he could tie him and then release him by merely waving his hands and uttering a few magic words. The tying process lasted several minutes, the victim's feet being securely fastened to the legs of a kitchen range in which a fire was burning briskly. But the magic words, calculated to release him, never came, for the wag who had tied him up declared he had forgotten them. The other boarders departed, leaving him helpless beside the hot fire until the astounded landlady returned home and released him. A. J. See could probably have told this story a little more in detail.

The late Fred M. Smith, who established the Summer hotel at Crescent Beach, and made it so widely popular, was something of a practical joker. He used to tell at his own expense of the time he hid beneath the family dinner table an especially large and fine whipped cream pie. When its absence was discovered the pie-maker was so much distressed that Fred relented. "Oh, I'll get it for you," said he, and reaching beneath the table he pulled the delicacy from its hiding place. But alas and alack! The family dog had beaten him to it, and every last vestige of the thick whipped cream had been lapped off. But nobody ever held any long grudge against Fred Smith. He was a friend to everybody and I am among the many hundreds who will ever revere his memory.

Tune in on any radio station, at will, and it's a safe bet you'll hear the latest refrain: "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition." With some pronouncing it sacrilege, and almost everybody

Book Review

(By K. S. F.)

The University of Oklahoma, a History of Fifty Years, 1892-1942. Author, Roy Gittinger. Publishers, The University of Oklahoma Press.

Norman Oklahoma

Romance, ambition, energy, grit and desire come swinging into thought when reading this masterly accomplishment. The mind lets go a thousand harrowing things and harks back with thrills to preparations in the States near the Indian Territory to the opening of free lands in the Oklahoma district, now so fine a State and as progressive in points of educational ambition as any other State in the Union. Men from Maine, including Rockland, were in one of the "Runs" to win land in this fertile section. The writer's brother was also in the thrilling race that went like wildfire over those prairie lands to win a section of these fields for a home-stead.

All this was over 50 years ago. But the spark of desire for the worthwhile things of life has never flattered out in that progressive section of our country. This book deals directly with the University of Oklahoma, yet it covers much of the history of the State that is of vital interest to the general public.

It is essentially a golden anniversary publication. It would be hard to find a more beautiful campus and set of dignified buildings than are pictured in this history.

The book holds possibly too much of local interest in the multiple appendix section—one can, however, get a real history of the working plans of this portion of the United States, in the highly brilliant minds who conceived these successes. Men of vision, culture and character were the backbone of this successful educational center, and are still developing men with what America and the world needs today.

K. S. F.

Without Fame. Author Otto Eisechmidt. Published by Alliance Book Corporation, Chicago—New York.

This book is the romance of a profession, filled with restless, inspiring truths as well as fascinating data of courageous industrious examples of keen fortitude.

This author was not only a dreamer; he was valiant in his urge to know the "whys and wherefores" in chemistry as well as in many other branches of the arts of life, the science of living and the cultural beauty of its ways.

In "Without Fame," Dr. Eisechmidt in this book alone reveals much of the breadth of his creative bent of mind. He easily won the degree of Doctor of Literature by his brilliant books on "Lincoln," and his international reputation as an historian followed.

A rare raconteur, humorous in just the proper handling of his anecdotes of men and matters, generous in praise of the less fortunate but deserving traveler, lecturer and brilliant example of what can be accomplished in courageous effort when one lives in America. A narrative full of the thrilling, worthy deep study as a source to successful living.

WORKING FOR VICTORY

First Lieut. Frederick C. Dennison (Medical Corps) of 52 Main street, Thomaston, graduated from the Medical Field School, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, Thursday. The members of the class, chiefly junior officers, received their commissions recently after completing their internship and ROTC training. The subjects taught in the course here included training, military art, military sanitation, logistics, field medicine and administration, presented thoroughly in an intensive one-month program of daily lectures, home study, and field demonstrations. The graduation ceremony, which closed the one-month training course, was held in the War Department Theater where each officer received his diploma from Brigadier-General Addison D. Davis, Commandant of the School and Assistant Surgeon General of the Army. In his address to the graduates, General Davis cautioned the men of the importance and seriousness of the work that lay before them in the dual role they will have to play in this war as physicians and soldiers.

Pfc. Philip Dondis, who is stationed at Fort Hancock, N. J., made a one-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Dondis, last week. It was his first time home in eight months.

How to cut the cost of Heating Your Home

By John Barclay

AMERICA'S HOME HEATING EXPERT

How To Obtain Heating Satisfaction

ANOTHER heating season will soon be upon us. When tending to the furnace, let us resolve not to follow those habits which waste money, coal, and cause inconvenience and discomfort.

There are ten such bad habits which every homeowner would do well to avoid:

1. Excessive shaking of the grates: A gentle shaking will serve the same purpose and save fuel. Shake only until the first red glow appears in the ashpit, not until live pieces of coal drop through the grate.
2. Using ashes for banking purposes: The only place for ashes is in the ashpit—with the exception of a thin layer upon the grates. If you fire ashes on top of live coals, you can expect clinker trouble and poor heat.
3. Burning rubbish or garbage in your furnace: Your furnace was built to burn coal, and you shouldn't put any foreign substance in it, as clinkers often result and fuel is wasted as a consequence.
4. Operating dirty boiler, heater, flue pipe or chimney: A clean heating plant—like a clean automobile engine—will give better service and greater comfort. Remove all soot and fly ash at least once a year.
5. Connecting two heaters into same chimney flue: This practice retards the draft and causes poor heat. If two heaters are connected into the same flue, make sure the draft on the one not being operated is completely shut off and all leaks sealed.
6. Operating hot air furnace without water in the humidifier: Dry air is both uncomfortable and unhealthy. You will get much more satisfaction from your furnace if the humidifier pan is kept filled with water. This is an important health measure.
7. Covering the fire bed: The firebox should be filled flush with the lower edge of the fire door. Contrary to the belief held by many people that a half-filled firebox saves coal, it actually burns up more coal and at the same time causes much unnecessary inconvenience. A thick fire bed burns better,

Follow the above suggestions and you will be sure to get more heat that will result in comfortable and healthy conditions during the winter. If you are in doubt about the correct operation of your heating plant, call on your local fuel dealer. He will be more than pleased to render this service.

American Art Week

An Amazingly Fine Display In Rockland—Mrs. Elsa West, Chairman

American Art Week is being observed here with extensive displays of paintings, rugs, wood carvings, hand painted china, hand blocked linen, furniture and other items, the principal exhibitions being in the Public Library and in the Northern window at the Senter-Crane Co. store.

Mrs. Elsa West is general chairman of the exhibit held all this week. Among the artists whose works are on display are, Edwin L. Brown, Henry A. Howard, Edwin Witham, Naomi Averill Elliot, James Verrier, Charles Gould, Miss Maude Hall, Hans Heistad, Robert Lee Perry, Dudley Perry and Miss West.

Mrs. Evelyn Peaslee is chairman of the exhibit in the Senter-Crane window, and hundreds of persons have already viewed the interesting display at that place.

Rugs in the window were made by members of the Friday Rug Club. The rug in the frame, in process of hooking, is by Mrs. George L. St. Clair. It is an Oriental, designed by Frost, a Maine designer, in the early Seventies.

There are two rugs by Mrs. Knott C. Rankin, one a banded floral, the original rug a museum piece in room size, re-designed by Mrs. McGowan, and the other is a "Round Beauty."

Two rugs are by Mrs. Walter C. Ladd, one a Rose Mosaic and the other, Bartlett's Good Luck. The original rug from which the second was copied is hanging in the window. It was designed and made by Sarah Heald over 100 years old.

"Little Gem," of very old pattern, and "Bouquet Scroll" were made by Mrs. Ruth Gurdy Bird. One and one-half Paisley shawls are hooked in the pattern of the second rug.

A child's rug, "Little Bo Peep," by Mrs. Russell E. Bartlett is also in the window. A beautiful rug, "Chilote Minekin," by Miss Charlotte Buffum is displayed.

Other items in the Arts and Crafts display in the window are, coffee table, with removable tray and beautiful inlaid border; gumwood book-case, two footstools, three painted wood carvings, two of fish and one of a ship and brace wall shelves, by Dr. Freeman P. Brown. Mrs. Brown did the needlepoint on the upholstery of the footstools.

Mrs. Lizzie F. Peaslee has an exhibit of fillet crochet, every piece a first prize winner at either Union or Windsor Fair.

Hans Heistad of Rockport made the very colorful hand painted damask firkin. H. John Newman's display includes a footstool, wood carvings of fish, hand wrought trays and hand carved wooden pins, very intricate in design.

Mrs. A. P. Blaisdell made the braided oval rug, with beautiful selection of colors. Emma Lou Peaslee has a collection of hand knits, including a pair of Norwegian mittens of Northern Star design, a most difficult accomplishment for a young lady of 15. One mitten is completed and the other in the making.

Robert Lee Perry exhibits a wood carving of the Army and Navy "E," recently awarded the Snow Shipyard. Mrs. Myrtle Strong of Thomaston has hand painted china and hand blocked linen scattered about the window, which adds a very pleasing note to the display.

Mrs. Peaslee was assisted in arranging the exhibit by Wilbur F. Senter.

Naomi Averill Elliot of Thomaston has written and illustrated several engaging stories for children. Among them is "Whistling-Two-Teeth," a picture story of the life among the Plains Indians. One of the original illustrations from this book, showing warriors doing tricks on their fast horses, is on display in the Huston-Tuttle window, together with the book itself. One of the original illustrations from "A Child's Story of the World," is on exhibition at the library, together with a book which is a Junior Literary Guild selection.

Edwin L. Brown is exhibiting several of his fine watercolors, most of which were painted at Boothbay Harbor the past summer.

Paintings of schooners and Maine coastal scenes by Edwin Witham, so familiar to all, are vigorous and colorful. Mrs. Witham does his work in a studio which is situated right at the edge of the sea at Long Cove on the road to Port Clyde.

A marine watercolor by Charles D. Gould, now in England with the Crown Film Unit, Ministry of Information, is on display at the library. This was painted from the stern of the S. S. Powell in the Gulf Stream. This and other paintings by Mr. Gould were loaned by Mr. Gould's mother, Mrs. Fanny Gould.

Hans Heistad, landscape gardener, of Rockport, did not commence to paint until he was 50 years of age, and then without lessons or training, he took up his palette and brush and proceeded to reveal in murals on the walls of his home the picture story of his life in Norway. Two of Mr. Heistad's paintings may be seen at the library; one a view from his home in Rockport, the other a view of his past life in Norway.

James Verrier of Tenant's Harbor, whose marine paintings have decorated the covers of boating magazines, is exhibiting a few of his oils, one of which appeared as the frontispiece in "Yachting" magazine.

Dudley Perry of Rockland, who has been aboard two vessels which have been torpedoed during this war, has a desire to study art when the globe quiets down to peaceful living. His interesting pencil sketch of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, reveals a natural talent for correct drawing and pleasing design.

Mrs. Elsa West, who has worked untiringly to make the observance of the week a success, says she likes working in pencil best of all, and is exhibiting several of her sketches, one the Swift vagabond cruise schooners in Camden harbor and another of Harper's schooner which is tied up in Rockland. She is also exhibiting two landscapes done in oil.

Of particular interest to children is a string clown puppet and a display of finger painting by Emma Lou Peaslee, exhibited in the children's room at the public library.

Mrs. West and Mrs. Peaslee are appreciative of the assistance of several persons in helping to make the observance of Art Week a success, especially mentioning Mr. Witham for his active interest, and Edwin L. Brown and Henry A. Howard for posters and cards furnished.

Space in windows, other than Senter-Crane Co., has been donated by Gregory's, Drs. J. F. and B. F. Burgess, Leighton Jewelry store, Crie's vacant store, Burpee Furniture Co., Cutler's, Vesper A. Leach, Rationing Board, Miss Mabel Spear's vacant store and Silsby's Florist Shop.

Mrs. and Mr. Mark P. Smith arrived here Friday, called by the death of Mrs. Smith's father, Austin B. Vinal.

Dr. Ada Balfour is in Portland for a few days' business trip.

Mrs. N. Cook Sholes of Belfast, passed the week-end at the Teel House.

Mrs. Elsa Ames returned Saturday from Dorchester, Mass.

Miss Sophronia Tolman gave a shower party Thursday to Mrs. Hollis Burgess. It proved a complete surprise and Mrs. Burgess was the recipient of many nice gifts. Lunch was served to 35 guests. Mrs. Burgess is a nephew of Miss Tolman. The couple began house-keeping recently in the Woodrow Bunker home on East Boston road.

Mrs. Monica Swears entertained Connie Phillips, Sada Gustavson and Ann Robinson at a Halloween party, Saturday night at her home. Games appropriate to Halloween were enjoyed. Lunch was served.

Robert Teel was home from Rockland for the week-end. Union Church Circle will meet Thursday and serve supper at 5.30.

Fabian Rosen of the U. S. Navy, is home on a short furlough.

Mrs. H. W. Fifield returned Monday from a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Victor Shields.

"Three Straight"

The Goose's Frantic Appeals Find Ganders Still in a Slump

In spite of frantic appeals for his team to "go in there and chew 'em up" by Manager Goose Arey, and a robust second from Captain Grimes, coupled with his threat "this crowd won't get another feed 'till the Ganders win" the skippers skipped blithely on their forward march at the Cascade Alleys last Monday night, and although they got a good scare, they had the punch required in the last string to pull out ahead, and finished 24 pins up.

The day of the match each Gander received through the mail an anonymous communication, which was not at all complimentary to their skill as bowlers, and behind the poetic beauty of the lines lay the veiled threat that they were supposed to beat those blasted skippers "or else."

Some of the more sensitive souls receiving these communications hid them under a bushel, but two were posted in the Cascade Alley for him who bows to read. The first addressed to goose Arey runs like this—

"The Ganders they are two games down. The Goose is supposed to knock some pins down. But his bowling will have to improve durn quick (Only they didn't say darned) Or he'll get more shellackings from Skipper Vic."

The second poetic gem, addressed to Gander Link Sanborn, was in Link's words "More truth than poetry." It may have been a bit weak on meter and rhyme but it was strong on meat and substance. It ran thusly,

"Your supposed to be next to the Gander's high man. But your bowling this season ain't worth a darn. (Again Mr. Anonymous didn't say darn). If you don't get going, so I've been told, Your goin' to be fired from the Blue and Gold."

It seemed at first as if these prods were going to take effect, for the Ganders won the first string by 11 pins, but the Skippers took the second by 3, and in the third came through with their best string of the evening to top the Ganders by 28, and thereby make it three straight for this season.

When the smoke of battle and burned tobacco had lifted somewhat the boys were discussing the anonymous epistles, trying to lay the blame on Skipper Drew who loudly was protesting his innocence, when the Goose, either through shame of righteous indignation blurted out the fact that he had sent them, and ended by lamenting, "And I don't know what I can try next week." So while the Skippers are going around looking like the cat that swallowed the canary, the Ganders have gone into a huddle to devise ways and means of sinking the enemy.

Oh, well, bowling being what it is, there is no guarantee that the Skippers smile is in any way permanent, and the chances are that in the not distant future the shoe may be pinching the other foot. The score:—

MAINE IN WASHINGTON

(From the office of Senator Ralph O. Brewster)
Support Price—Committee On Agriculture—Recess

Assurance is given that by the time this is published the ceiling on potatoes will be raised by approximately one dollar so that in Maine growers will be allowed to sell potatoes up to the party price approaching three dollars a barrel.

This does not mean that the grower is assured three dollars a barrel. It rather means the government will not impose a ceiling below that figure in accordance with the provision of the price control legislation recently enacted.

Support Price
The support price continues for the present around $1.75 a barrel. That means the government will support the market at that figure if it tends to sag either by direct purchases or loans or other means.

The support price announced this Spring represented the government estimate of a price that would tend to assure the production of sufficient potatoes to feed the United States.

The support price will presumably be announced this next Winter or Spring at a figure that takes into account increased costs for labor and other items and it is hoped will again produce enough potatoes to serve our needs for the Winter of 1943-44.

Meanwhile market conditions this Winter will be allowed to have full play in determining the price between the support price of $1.75 a barrel and the ceiling or parity price of around $3.

Committee On Agriculture

The Senate Committee on Agriculture held a special session this last week with former Justice James Byrnes, newly named Director of Economic Stabilization and Leon Henderson, Price Control Administrator and Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture.

Searching questions were asked as to how ceilings could be fixed below parity in view of the plain provision of the law forbidding any such action. Senator Brewster led in the questioning because of the ceiling fixed on Maine potatoes at 65¢ of parity and was supported by all the members of the Senate who crowded the hearing room for a discussion that became at times quite heated.

Senator Brewster stressed the urgency of action so far as Maine was concerned because of the heavy movement of potatoes at this section resulting from a variety of reasons. He pointed out that a movement of 15,000,000 bushels this Fall might mean a loss to Maine growers of more than $5,000,000 under the entirely arbitrary and unauthorized price ceiling fixed by the Price Administrator.

Senator Brewster was assured by Mr. Henderson that the justice and equity of his position in urging immediate relief was recognized and that the revised price ceiling on potatoes would be announced before the week was out.

Increased markets for Maine lumber have been developing out of current shortages and vigorous attention is being given in both Washington and Maine as to how these markets can be supplied.

E. C. Hyde, War Production Administrator for Maine, with an office in Portland has been giving much of his abounding energy to this job this past week and this should mean results.

New uses for wood are being constantly developed as a result of the growing scarcity of metals and this will offer more and more opportunity for the wood industries of Maine.

Recess

Congress has been in recess for all practical purposes this past week while most of the members from other States went home for their elections.

Congressman Fellows went home to get a brief rest from a very strenuous Summer for perhaps a couple of weeks. Congressman Oliver has been home some time in connection with the investigation being carried on at the South Portland shipyards by the Merchant Marine Committee of the House and this past week Congressman Bland of Virginia went to Maine to go over the situation. Congressman Margaret Smith is remaining in Washington to catch up on correspondence.

Senator White is home completing the transfer of his office to new quarters and moving to Washington for the Winter.

Senator Brewster spoke before the Women's Republican Club of New York City in their concluding campaign rally and wound up the campaign in New Hampshire with speeches in behalf of Senator Styles Bridges who is up this year. Senator Brewster addressed the Women's Republican Club of Washington on Monday on the eve of the election.

Broiled Ham and Cheese Sandwiches—12 slices Ward's Tip Top enriched bread, 6 slices Morrell ham, 6 slices Shefford American cheese, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons catsup, butter.

Butter six slices of bread and top with the ham and cheese. Mix the catsup and mustard and spread on the other slices of bread. Place atop ham and cheese. Brush outside with melted butter; broil or toast in sandwich grill.

Red Cabbage Relish—1 large red cabbage, ½ cup Sterling salt, 1 quart sharp vinegar, 2 tablespoons whole cloves, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon allspice.

Quarter the cabbage, cutting off the hard core; shred finely and place in a wooden or earthen bowl with ½ cup salt. Place in a cool place for 24 hours, stirring occasionally. Rinse in cold water and drain through a colander. Add vinegar; also cloves, pepper and allspice tied in a piece of muslin. Bring to a boil, add cabbage. Simmer 10 to 12 minutes, then allow to cool, with cover on kettle. Will be ready to use in 2 or 3 days. Keep in a covered crock in a cold cellar. Will keep several weeks. Makes about 2 quarts.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie—1 envelope plain gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1½ cups pumpkin, cooked or canned, ½ teaspoon ginger and cinnamon, ½ teaspoon Sterling salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, ½ cup milk. To lightly beaten egg yolk add ½ cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt and spices. Cook until thick in double boiler. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on water. Add to hot pumpkin mixture and mix thoroughly, cool. When it begins to thicken, add remaining sugar and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into previously baked pie shell. Chill in refrigerator. Pie may be garnished with whipped cream just before serving if you like.

Baked Onions and Cheese—12 medium sized onions, 1 cup grated Chevelle cheese, Sterling salt, paprika, butter.

Peel onions and boil them until partly tender. Drain and core with an apple corer. Fill the centers with cheese and season with salt and paprika. Dot with butter and place them in a baking dish in enough stock or water to keep them from scorching. Cover and bake in a 375 deg. F. oven until they are nearly tender. Remove the cover and bake them five minutes longer.

Uncooked Tomato Relish (From Mrs. F. C. Gittinger)—4 quarts ripe tomatoes, peeled, chopped and drained, 6 large green or red peppers, chopped, 6 onions, chopped and drained, 2 cups chopped celery, 1 cup grated horseradish, ½ cup Sterling salt, 1 cup white mustard seed, 2 pounds light brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar.

Remove seed clusters in tomatoes as they are cut open. Juice which drains off tomatoes may be heated and canned separately.

ECONOMY IN

The Kitchen

Oven Meals Are Time and Fuel Savers

An oven meal if carefully planned is one of the best ways of saving both time and cooking fuel. It is, of course, fairly simple to plan a meal of baked dishes, which require different cooking periods, and these do save some time and fuel. However, they are not nearly so practical as the oven meal made up of dishes which require the same amount of time.

Vivian Whaley, director of the A & P Kitchen, has planned the following menu—with accompanying recipes—which requires only a half hour of cooking time. Although inexpensive, it is quite equal to a company occasion and will make life simple for the hostess, as while the hot dishes are baking she can prepare the salad.

Oven Meal Menu
(30 Minutes at 350° F.)
Baked Halibut Au Gratin
Buttered Parsley Noodles
Baked Tomatoes
Mixed Green Salad
Apple Crisp

These are the accompanying recipes:

Baked Halibut Au Gratin
2 lb. halibut steak ½ cup bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt ½ cup grated Parmesan or American cheese
¼ tsp. pepper ¼ cup butter

Place halibut steak in greased baking pan; season with salt and pepper; dot with 2 tablespoons of the butter. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 15 minutes. Cover with mixture of soft bread crumbs and grated cheese, dot with remaining butter; continue baking for 15 minutes or until crumbs are browned and the fish tender. 6 to 8 servings.

Noodles
1 ½ 5-oz. pkg. 4 tba. melted butter
1 lb. salt 2 tba. chopped parsley
6 cups boiling water

Pour boiling salted water over noodles; cover and place in 350° F. oven for 30 minutes; drain. Pour melted butter over noodles and sprinkle with chopped parsley. 6 servings.

Baked Tomatoes
Wash tomatoes; remove stem end but do not peel. Season with salt, pepper and a little sugar; place in greased baking dish; bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 30 minutes.

Apple Crisp
4 to 6 apples, sliced 5 tba. shortening
1 tsp. cinnamon ½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup water ¼ cup flour

Put apples in 1-littered baking dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon; pour water over. Work flour, shortening, and brown sugar together and sprinkle over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 40 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Memorial Service
In connection with the morning worship at the Baptist Church Sunday a special service was held in memory of Mrs. Vina Coffin Greenlaw, a former member of the church, who died Oct. 23 in South Portland.

The program was arranged by Miss Hazel Lane, a close friend of the deceased, who, as the opening number asked the choir, of which the deceased was at one time a member, to sing one of Mrs. Greenlaw's favorite hymns, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder." Miss Lane, as the theme for the tribute which she feelingly and sincerely paid to the deceased, chose the Scripture verse "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus," as being especially appropriate and applicable.

She spoke of the influence for good, in the home, the church, the Sunday school, and the town at large, which lives on in the memory of those who knew her. She loved life in the fullest sense of the word, finding enjoyment in duties as well as pleasures; her life, a life of service to others; a true Christian, were Miss Lane's tributes. She also spoke of the parents, Deacon Edmund Coffin and his wife Emeline (Wilson) Coffin, who with the daughter came here in 1902 to take charge of Indian Island Lighthouse. Mr. Coffin having served for 12 years previous at Halfway Rock Lighthouse.

Coming here as strangers they soon became a vital part of the community through their friendliness and their strong Christian life. The latchstring was always out at the island during their stay there; and young and old, rich or poor, always received the heartiest welcome. The tribute which was paid by Deacon Arthur Walker to Deacon Coffin at the close of Miss Lane's remarks was especially fitting. "A stronger faith I never saw." A family united in the home, in the church, has passed on, but their influence remains.

Previous to the memorial service Frederick Quimby read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer.

Housewarming Party

Friends Throng To The New Home of Capt. and Mrs. Arey In Rockport

Capt. and Mrs. Freemont Arey who have been residents of Owl's Head for many years have recently bought the Cole property in Rockport and have made many alterations and repairs, the result being a beautiful home.

A large group of friends gave them a housewarming Saturday night and after a tour of the house, bridge and 63 were played. At midnight, buffet refreshments were served in the spacious dining-room. The lunch was interrupted by Jerry Margeson who presented to the couple a purse of money from their many friends with which to buy something for their home. The gift was accompanied by an appropriate presentation address by Mr. Margeson.

Those from Owl's Head were: Mrs. Arthur Bain and daughter Isabelle, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Margeson, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Learned, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Maddocks, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Philbrook, Mr. and Mrs. P. REALM OF Music

by Gladys St. Clair Heisted

Roland Gundry of Pasadena, Calif., and New York, 19-year-old violinist, will be presented before the Portland Rosini Club and guests at 3 p. m. Sunday in Frye Hall. At the age of 10 his exceptional talent was so apparent that he was taken to France to continue his studies. His New York debut was at Town Hall in 1937.

Fans for Nelson Eddy will be interested to note that his rich baritone will now be heard over WGAN Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock—the first program on Oct. 26.

Sigmund Romberg, composer of the most popular and enduring operettas of the contemporary theatre, was a recent Boston visitor, in a concert in which he conducted a symphony orchestra and doubled as piano soloist in the novel "An Evening with Sigmund Romberg." Boston Garden was the chosen site for the concert, necessary to accommodate the thousands of devotees. Among his most tuneful operettas are "Student Prince," "Blossom Time," "Desert Song," and "New Moon," "Stout-Hearted Men." Romberg's lusty marching song from the latter work has been enlisted in the services of the United States Navy.

At present all royalties accruing from the sale of the song automatically become the property of the United States navy relief fund. Romberg has also been commissioned by the United States government to write two new war songs.

The Boston concert was in two parts, the first half including selections from Chopin, Tchaikovsky, Schubert, Kreisler, Johann Strauss, Victor Herbert, George Gershwin, and others. The second portion was devoted entirely to selections from Romberg's operettas, the composer himself acting as piano soloist.

For choir leaders who are beginning to think of Christmas music is noted a new Christmas cantata just off the press—"The Star That Lit the World" by George W. Kemmer (music) and Herbert L. Satterlee (text). It is for full chorus of mixed voices, with solos for soprano, alto, tenor and baritone. The performing time is 20 minutes. Comfort and hope for the return of peace and goodwill is given in the inspirational text to express the mood of Christmas, 1942. Published by G. Schirmer Inc., 3 East 43d Street, New York City.

Back in the Gay 90's there were many theatre goers who saw Marie Tempest, famous English comedienne, in both operettas and later in straight plays, two of the most popular of which were "The Marriage of Kitty" and "The First Mrs. Fraser." Dame Marie Tempest died in London a few days ago at the age of 78 years. It is said that her stage career would fill five columns in "Who's Who in the Theatre." Marie Tempest meant laughter for people sitting in a theatre. She was one of those rare ones who delighted all kinds of playgoers. She was handsome, graceful, and altogether feminine, yet she did not rely overmuch on femininity to achieve her characterizations. Rather she seemed eager to meet all persons on their own level as human beings, which may be the reason why she is remembered so warmly by those who were privileged to see her on the stage.

The Philharmonic-Symphony Society has contributed more than 1000 pounds of metal to the salvage campaign. Most of it was found in the society's old storeroom in Carnegie Hall. Among the things they threw into the scrap pile were steel music stands, brass chime rack, copper piano wiring, steel casters for celesta, and two German machine tympani, with paddle wheel pedals, imported by Gustav Mahler.

Last season a group of concert pianists of Philadelphia, interested in the literature of the piano and anxious to be heard in their own city, banded together to present themselves in a series of three recitals, devoted respectively to Chopin, Schumann and Brahms. Their novel plan of co-operatively performed concerts was so successful that this season they are planning to give four. The new series will be devoted to sonatas. Four performers will appear at each concert, each one playing a major work or a group of shorter sonatas. The association has expanded its membership, and noted among those who will appear this season are Jeanne Behrend, Ralph Berkowitz, and Joseph Levine, well known members of Rockport's music colony in past Summers.

The place of Samuel Barber, now in the Army, as director of the course in orchestration at Curtis Institute of Music, is being taken by Gian Carlo Menotti. Seventeen of the Institute's students have entered the armed forces, and Erem Zimbalist, director of the school has promised that those who had not finished their courses would be re-instated without the formality of an audition at the end of the war.

For choir leaders who are beginning to think of Christmas music is noted a new Christmas cantata just off the press—"The Star That Lit the World" by George W. Kemmer (music) and Herbert L. Satterlee (text). It is for full chorus of mixed voices, with solos for soprano, alto, tenor and baritone. The performing time is 20 minutes. Comfort and hope for the return of peace and goodwill is given in the inspirational text to express the mood of Christmas, 1942. Published by G. Schirmer Inc., 3 East 43d Street, New York City.

Back in the Gay 90's there were many theatre goers who saw Marie Tempest, famous English comedienne, in both operettas and later in straight plays, two of the most popular of which were "The Marriage of Kitty" and "The First Mrs. Fraser." Dame Marie Tempest died in London a few days ago at the age of 78 years. It is said that her stage career would fill five columns in "Who's Who in the Theatre." Marie Tempest meant laughter for people sitting in a theatre. She was one of those rare ones who delighted all kinds of playgoers. She was handsome, graceful, and altogether feminine, yet she did not rely overmuch on femininity to achieve her characterizations. Rather she seemed eager to meet all persons on their own level as human beings, which may be the reason why she is remembered so warmly by those who were privileged to see her on the stage.

The Philharmonic-Symphony Society has contributed more than 1000 pounds of metal to the salvage campaign. Most of it was found in the society's old storeroom in Carnegie Hall. Among the things they threw into the scrap pile were steel music stands, brass chime rack, copper piano wiring, steel casters for celesta, and two German machine tympani, with paddle wheel pedals, imported by Gustav Mahler.

Soprano To Wed

Miss Raychel Emerson Engaged To Her Personal Director

A romance which had its inception in Marblehead nearly 20 years ago culminated in the engagement of the couple, Miss Raychel Emerson, dramatic soprano, and her personal director, Harold Bliss Durant of Lynn.

Mr. Durant let it be known that he proposed just 10 minutes after Miss Emerson sang "The Star Spangled Banner" at the broadcast of the Community Fund drive in Lynn, Mass., Monday night.

Through the years, both have been staunch friends, although their travels have separated them at times. Mr. Durant has been personal manager and treasurer of the Boston Grand Opera Company, traveling both in this country and abroad.

Miss Emerson, who is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emerson of Warren, Me., has studied under such renowned teachers as Vera Foras, Malatesta, Bagarozzi and Arnoldo Schiavoni, specializing in the Italian school. She has been on concert tours in America and abroad, and now has Mr. Durant as her director.

Mr. Durant's mother is Mrs. Abbie Bliss Durant, 12 West Baltimore street, Lynn, where the couple are residing between engagements. Their first meeting took place here when Mr. Durant heard Miss Emerson sing. He was so captivated by the quality of her voice and her charm that he arranged for an introduction.

The engagement ring belonged to his aunt, Florence Durant Coleman, soprano star of the old Bostonians, and has 22 diamonds encircling a blue sapphire. — Lynn Telegram-News.

CHARLES K. MACWHINNIE

Charles Keene MacWhinnie who died Oct. 27, following a surgical operation, was born in West Jonesport, April 20, 1881, son of William & Betsy (Doyle) MacWhinnie. He came to Rockport where he attended the public schools for a while and later came to Rockland where he worked at his trade as a carpenter. His last employment was at the Snow Shipyards where a few weeks ago he met with a painful accident from which he never fully recovered.

Nov. 12, 1902, he was married to Winnifred L. Robinson of Rockland, who died May 4, 1914 leaving five small children, four girls and one boy, another boy, Russell Keene dying in infancy.

The surviving children are Mrs. Edwin F. Post, Mrs. Ralph C. Clarke of Rockland, Mrs. Oliver K. Peck of Rockville, Conn., Mrs. John Woods of Mexico, Maine, Charles Doyle MacWhinnie of Litchfield, Maine.

Oct. 7, 1919 Mr. MacWhinnie was married to Mrs. Grace Stapleford of Rockland, who survives. There are also fourteen grandchildren.

The deceased was president of the Carpenters' Union, a member of the American Hook & Ladder Co. and former member of the Modern Woodmen.

The funeral was held Friday afternoon at the Russell Funeral Home, Rev. J. C. MacDonald officiating. The honorary bearers were Capt. A. B. Norton, Emory Ellis, Sr., Eugene Ripley and Harry Dow. The active bearers were the son Charles Doyle MacWhinnie and son-in-laws Edwin F. Post, Ralph C. Clarke and Oliver K. Peck. The flowers were many and beautiful. The burial was in the family lot in Achorn Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Phillips are in Boston where the latter is to undergo a surgical operation at the Robert Brigham Hospital.

Mrs. Millard W. Hart is employed at the First National Bank.

This And That

The eagle first made his appearance in the coinage of America on the cents and half-cents issued from the Massachusetts mint in 1788. In national coinage the eagle is found on all gold coins, on the silver half-dollars, quarter-dollar, and dollars.

"Do you put your Summer clothes away in camphor balls to keep the moths away?" "No; I usually put them up with three gold balls to keep the wolf away."

Relativity

Just because you're tall—I'm small. That's what they call relative, that's all. Relativity is the bunk. Why, beside an African pigmy Wouldn't I seem a quite big me? So don't feel too big, you see; Others feel quite as large as thee.

It is predicted that the health of women will improve with the advent of lower heels, more sturdy soles, and stockings less thin. The only out to this progress is the fear that rubber heels taken from them will be the means of sad jars to the nerves. Nothing is so more comfort to tired nerves than a walk in the country or even city streets with rubber heels on the shoes to dull the jar.

Some "expert" cooks who write for papers are always spoiling the delicate flavor of both tomatoes and mushrooms by putting them together. Mushrooms have their own delicate flavor and are best alone or used for meats or fowl cooking. These bring out the flavor. Tomatoes with meat or cheese but never tomatoes with mushrooms.

Those who have had the joy of a ride into the country this Fall have noted the beauty of the purple and lavender and white asters in their generous blooming, also the Fall arnica with their golden coins of yellow dotting through the fields and fens. Then also all the brilliant reds and scarlets in berries that cluster so gloriously massed for Winter feeding of birds that stay here. Now the bronzed leaves of the oak have lost their brilliant reds and some are brown and grounded with all the other leaves, now that the hoar frost has come to spread its silver sheet of right over all blossoming. Who knows the lovely clusters of black and also blue berries that one finds in the woods when November comes. And those gorgeous mountain ashes give a Christmas cheer to all nature that is fortunate enough to have them growing near.

The bee's most important role in the war is not as a maker of honey to spread on daily bread but as an agricultural worker in the field of pollination for fruits, vegetables and many field crops. America must provide seeds to replace the billions of pounds of seeds which formerly came from Europe for the planting time. And thought must be given to that after-war period when the United States will be called upon to provide seeds for the devastated fields of Europe.

The bee is the only insect effective in pollination whose population and movement can be controlled by man. The value of the bee for pollination is set at ten times the value of the most honey and beeswax he could ever produce.

RECALLING LIFE'S CHAPTERS

Being In the Nature Of a Biography of Commander G. H. Reed, U. S. N. (D. D. S.)

Written By Himself

This record is primarily a family matter. It is written chiefly for the information of anyone in the Reed family who might be interested in the career of one of its members, who has lived an average life in an era of many changes. It will therefore, be of little interest, except to those directly concerned.

I am commencing the record in St. Petersburg, Fla., where I have been deposited by fate and circumstances in the Winter of 1941, over 60 years and some 1900 miles from its true starting point in Hampden, Maine, Jan. 14, 1881.

In the years between these dates, the world has changed; more perhaps than during any other period in its history; and while I have had nothing to do with these changes, I have ridden on the tide of their progress, so that a record of my own existence is, to some extent, a reflection in miniature of the life of the times.

The U. S. Navy too, has changed. It is not now the tradition steeped, tight little organization it was when I knew it; and it is because I would like to capture, and put into print, some of the clanish spirit and flavor it had, when association with it was regarded more as a career and less a business, that I am setting down here some of my own experiences in my 22 years of commissioned service in the Navy Dental Corps.

It should be said in the first place that I never should have been a dentist. I think I realized this even before I obtained my D.D.S. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1912, and opened an office in Portland, Maine for the practice of my profession. Although this knowledge of my temperamental unfitness to cope with the mass of painstaking detail dentistry entailed, came to me early in my career, it was then too late to turn back and prepare myself for anything else, for by that time I had a wife and three children to provide for, and neither the time nor the money to experiment further.

I found myself, therefore, at the outset of my personal career as a man among men faced with what I considered a discouraging prospect from which there seemed no escape, save to continue along the path I had chosen, and adapt myself, as best I could, to a life of small affairs and limited horizons, against which my restless nature rebelled.

Doubtless many other young men have faced similar problems and solved them acceptably in one way or another. It is probable also that in some instances such problems were never solved, and such young men have gone on hopelessly miscast in life to the end. My own solution of the matter is a part of the story I am recording here.

(End of Introduction)

Hampden, Maine, in the decade between 1885 and 1895 looked much the same as it does now. A country town in Maine doesn't change much in physical appearance in half a century. The disappearance of a few old landmarks; the erection of a few new buildings; is hardly noticeable, except to older inhabitants. The chief external difference between the appearance of the town as it was then, and as it is now, is in the roads. These concrete highways, which now extend up and down the river and out into the country west of the village have altered completely the whole character of the place.

The Hampden I knew as a boy, was a quiet, pretty little town, quite sufficient unto itself. It was peopled then by small farmers, lumbermen and mill workers, storekeepers etc., with a generous sprinkling of sailors and sea captains, both active and retired, who made their homes there; and the village itself had an industrial background of shipbuilding, farm marketing, and harvesting ice on the river.

Being without a railroad or means of public transportation other than stages to Bangor, Wintertown and Monroe, a ferry to Orrington, and steamers to Boston and river ports as far south as Rockland, the town spread out over an area of approximately 144 square miles of farmland, wood lots and pastures, and was divided roughly into sections a mile or two square by dirt roads running back from the main highway which paralleled the river. Each of these sections was a little community in itself, with its own postoffice, stores, etc., located at intersections of the more frequently travelled highways.

All of these settlements in our town, were only a mile or so from another similar settlement, and each was a Corner—Hampden Lower Corner, Hampden Upper Corner, Arey's Corner, Nealeys Corner, etc., with East Hampden, West Hampden and Hampden Center differing only in name.

This was my world as a small boy, and I grew up in it, and of it, as any other small boy grows up, and moulds his character and ideas of life from a similar background. To it I owe to a considerable extent my sense of values in judging people and things and my ideas as to what is right and what is wrong in the world.

WEST ROCKPORT

Mrs. Alice Tolman and Miss Ella Hurme went Friday to Beverly, Mass., where they will visit Mrs. Tolman's brother, Joseph Blake.

Mrs. William Counce was in Thomaston the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Woodcock, who has been ill with bronchitis.

Miss Dorothy Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane Sr. and Henry Hastings of South Hope were married Saturday night in Warren.

Most of the villagers arose early Sunday morning due to the black-out, at least those in Civilian Defense work. Most of the others were awakened from their slumbers by the new siren attached to a truck which screamed its warning as it passed along each street.

Frederick Quimby of Rockport gave the message at the service Sunday morning due to the illness of the pastor, Rev. C. Vaughn Overman. Rev. Mr. Overman attended the service but left on the afternoon train for Boston where he will enter Lahey Clinic for examination and diagnosis. There will be no prayer meeting Wednesday.

Charles Lunden returned Monday to Aberdeen, Md., after spending a furlough with Mrs. Lunden and his mother, Mrs. Amanda Lunden.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bird and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Bird 2d of Rockland were at their camps at Mirror Lake Sunday.

Dept. Junior Vice President Hazel Parker, accompanied by friends from Camden, and niece, Gladys Parker attended the reception to Department President Florence Staples of the Ladies of the G.A.R. Saturday in Belfast.

Charlene Heald was overnight guest Monday of Arlene Keller.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spear of East Union spent Sunday with Mrs. Alice Tolman.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tolman and Mr. and Mrs. John North gave a party Saturday in honor of their mother, Mrs. Alice Tolman at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tolman.

Mrs. Margaret Andrews and son Sidney were recent guests of Mrs. Andrews' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rapley in Walpole.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tolman and sons Maynard and Arnold were supper guests Sunday at Norman Simmons' Thomaston.

Mrs. Annie Clark is able to be out again, following illness.

Lewis Clark, who has been stationed in the British West Indies for some time visited his grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Fogler, here and his mother in Camden while on a ten-day furlough. He has now been transferred to an officers' training school in Virginia.

Among guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane Sr. were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Leonard of South Hope, Miss Roberta Lane of Rockland, Miss Charlotte Lane and George Erickson of East Warren.

Hurme-Leppanen

A wedding of much interest took place Thursday night, when John H. Hurme and Mrs. Elizabeth Leppanen were united in marriage by Arthur Clark, J. P., at his home in South Hope. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William O'Jala of Rockville.

The bride wore a street length dress of crepe Fuschia trimmed with colored beads.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the Hurme home where refreshments were served. Others present were Miss Ella Hurme, Herbert Hurme and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Jala of Camden.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurme left by train Saturday to spend the week-end in Boston.

Kingsley's Record

Well Known Driver and Trainer "Rests Up" in Rockland

Every turfman in Maine knows Jack Kingsley, the well known trainer and driver, who has been a guest at The Thorndike Hotel the past week, resting up a bit at the close of a six months' campaign, which, he modestly admits, left him "in the money"—not big, to be sure, but enough so that he could check off another successful season.

Jack has stuck to Maine tracks pretty consistently this year, going across the New Hampshire border, only, to try his luck in the Rochester races. Quite a contrast to the year he campaigned in 16 States shipping his horses as far West as Missouri and as far South as Maryland. Some persons complain they can't sleep in a strange bed, but Kingsley slept in about 50 of them during that memorable season, and was dead to the world the moment his head struck the pillow. "What's the fastest time you ever made riding in a sukey?" The Courier-Gazette reporter asked him.

To a person who can remember when 240 was quite some speed his answer was almost startling, "1.59 1/2."

But there was nothing startling about it to a man who has trained or driven seven world champions, and that's Dick Kingsley's record. Questioned about next season's fairs and race meets he was a bit dubious.

Our Job Is to Save Dollars

WASHINGTON—AND YOU

By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, Oct. 27.—The House was so impressed with the necessity of drafting younger men into the Army, that it passed the bill to lower the draft age to 18 years by a vote of 345 to 16. I voted for the bill with a heavy heart, just as I voted for the original draft legislation and other measures necessary to win this war. I have previously voted for draft of the younger men because our Army officers have repeatedly told us that we need the young ones to mix in with the older ones already drafted.

We are to have an Army of 7,500,000 men besides the Navy and Marine Corps, and we have come to the point where we must take the younger men or else the men with families and other dependents, or the men essential to food or factory production. I prefer to have the men taken young and given every benefit of training before being sent abroad than to wait draft hastily and go into active service unprepared.

Now that the tax bill is through, though another one is coming soon—Members are thinking about expansion of the Social Security measure which the Administration said, early in the year, would be presented. Letters come to me from constituents asking that more people be covered in the old-age insurance clauses of the system. One Androscoggin County constituent proposes that domestics and farmers should be covered and self-employed people.
